

AC Schnitzer BMW M5 and F30 3-Series Coming to Geneva

17/02/2012 16:01 by admin

AC Schnitzer has big plans for next month's Geneva Motor Show, with the tuning specialist set to give us two new developments at the Swiss event. The first will be a project based on the 2012 F10M BMW M5, while the second will use the BMW F30 3-Series as a starting point.

The kits will come with a complete approach, as they will include a tech side, with sports exhausts and other engine upgrades, as well as suspension goodies, an exterior one, which will bring a more dynamic images for the th... [...]

Source: autoevolution