

2012 BMW M5 G-Power Stage 1

17/02/2012 17:02 by admin

G-Power, a tuner that has an obsession with taking BMWs to ridiculously cool power levels, has targeted the 2012 M5 and, after two months of work, is now releasing its Stage 1 package for the vehicle.

The 4.4-liter twin-turbo V8 unit has been boosted to 640 hp and 780 Nm, which means that it develops an extra 80 hp and 100 Nm compared to the stock setup. Thanks to the addition of a stainless steel exhaust system, the engine now also has a deeper growl. In addition to that, G-Power has removed... [...]

Source: autoevolution