

Bugatti Veyron Replica Based on Honda Civic

23/02/2012 16:18 by admin

People will always try to drive what they can't reach, which is why the car replica market will always have demand. However, some replicas are more hideous than others and we're here to give you one that deserves to go straight to the scrap yard.

We are talking about a Bugatti Veyron wannabe, which was built on the platform of a 1992-1995 generation Honda Civic Coupe. The Japanese car had received an eight-piece fiberglass kit, with the result being one of the ugliest pieces of machinery we've... [...]

Source: autoevolution