

Mercedes CL C216 Black Edition by Prior Design

28/02/2012 01:52 by admin

The Black Series program created by Mercedes is very well-known on standout models like the SLS AMG and the C63 AMG, but Prior Design is giving the second string of Mercedes models a little attention as well. The German tuner has opted to provide the CL-Class C216 with a Black Series dress-up of their own making. The new program is called the CL C216 Black Edition and includes a very impressive aerodynamic package that will make the car look more muscular. The body kit includes new front mud wings, widened rear body and side skirts, and a decent roof scoop in addition to new front and rear bumpers. The model was also equipped with a new set of 20" light alloy rims. If the customer opts for the available gorgeous black exterior paint finish, then they will definitely get the perfect sports car.[...]

Source: topspeed