

2012 Porsche 911 (991) Gets HRE Wheels

01/03/2012 13:15 by admin

Porsche didn't necessary intend this, but the 911 has become the most tuned car in the world quite a long time ago. Thus, the new 991 generation of the car keeps receiving more and more aftermarket developments and we are here now to talk about a new one.

US aftermarket developer HRE wheels has recently announced a new rim collection for the rear-engined coupe. We are talking about forged wheels, with multiple series being offered: the P40, the P40S, the Vintage, as well as the 590RS and the ... [...]

Source: autoevolution