A little bit earlier, we showed a 472 hp VW T5 van that German tuner MTM will present at next week's Geneva Motor Show. The aftermarket developer will also offer a less extreme project at the Swiss event, in the form of a modification pack for the Audi Q3 2.0-liter TFSI.

The engine was boosted from the factory stock 170 to 310 hp (this is the usual maximum power safe value for VW's 2.0 TFSI unit), which means that the vehicle now only needs 6.1 seconds to cover the 0 to 62 mph sprint, while i... [...]
