It might not have the facelift grille and lights you'd expect from a brand new version of the fortwo, but the Brabus Ultimate 120 smart cabrio has one heck of a pair of seats.

The car that will be on show at the Brabus booth in Geneva is a limited production model with a set of custom bumper, a set of 18-inch wheels, a stainless steel exhaust system and even a widened set of fenders that might fool some people into taking the smart seriously.

As you might have guessed by now, only 120 cars... [...]
