

Mansory McLaren MP4-12C Is Burning Carbon in Geneva [Video]

08/03/2012 11:11 by admin

Looking at the Mansory version of the McLaren MP4-12C is to us like looking like a supercar made from carbon fiber that's on fire. You just can't get enough of this hotness. This is just one of the tuned versions of the British supercar that have made their way to the Geneva Motor Show, and thanks to Alex Molik, we can show you a walkaround video of the car.

But even though it's not the most severe tuning out there, we suspect the power boost is the most important thing here. Thanks to a new ... [...]

Source: autoevolution