

Brabus Mercedes C-Coupe 800 Bullit in Geneva [Video]

08/03/2012 22:44 by admin

Brabus has really disappointed us with body kits for the smart fortwo or the Mercedes B-Class, but all that is forgiven when you look at the flagship of the C-Class range. This is the Brabus Bullit 800, and yes, we know that's not how bullet is spelled, but that's how the Germans want it. And with a mighty new engine at their disposal they can get away with anything.

The body of the car you see here in Geneva, filmed by Marchettino, is based on the C 63 AMG, but the engine is so much more tha... [...]

Source: autoevolution