

CFC Adds a Lot of Ponies and Even More Color to the Volkswagen Golf GTI

14/03/2012 15:24 by admin

German tuners were never shy to experiment with strange color combinations, even though most of the times, the results are questionable, to say the least. CFC, which is short for Car Film Components, is a German firm that specializes on vinyl wraps but it also offers complete tunes. In its latest project, CFC has reworked a Volkswagen Golf GTI. The hatchback's body is covered in a matte grey vinyl wrap, with the roof and the exterior mirror caps finished in carbon fiber, and the passenger side front fender, the GTI logos, the fuel cap and the inner part of the lower front grille featuring a comic strip-like wrap.[...]

Source: Carscoop