

Range Rover Evoque Gets Vossen Wheels

15/03/2012 13:35 by admin

The Range Rover Evoque is a car that can serve many purposes. The vehicle can be used as an urban cruiser, a soft-road machine or a status display. This means that aftermarket developers want to take advantage of these possibilities and we are not here to talk about the latest development on this topic.

US aftermarket company Vossen Wheels has recently targeted the crossover, gifting it with its goodies. The Evoque was fitted with a set of VVS083 rims machined rims, which use an elegant multi... [...]

Source: autoevolution