The Lexus IS-F has a high-revving naturally aspirated V8, so it doesn't need to use any color than stands out in order to be a special color. Of course, the vehicle's factory body kit isn't that aggressive, so certain people might mistake it for an average sedan. However, it seems that this works just fine for certain owners, such as the one of the car in the adjacent images.

The vehicle, which was black when it left the factory, was taken to VIP Auto Saloon, with the specialists receiving a ...
