

Hartge Tunes BMW X3 xDrive35d

20/03/2012 13:15 by admin

Yesterday, we found out that BMW plans to launch the X1 as a facelift at the New York Auto Show, which starts next month. This is earlier than we expected, and likely means that the X-model offensive is about to begin. The hot SUV we are really waiting for is the X4, but any hot model will do.

Have you got an X3 xDrive35d in your driveway and are wondering how to make it hotter? If you do it means you have speeding issues, because the 3.0-liter turbocharged straight-six diesel delivers 313 PS... [...]
