

Ford Mustang RTR by Performance Auto Sport

28/03/2012 03:28 by admin

Back in 2010, Vaughn Gittin Jr. unveiled a very cool Ford Mustang RTR, and now he's teamed up with Performance Auto Sport to come up with a track-based version of that very same car. This is not just an ordinary Mustang; it has already scored an impressive 1st place finish at the Virginia International Raceway, making for a total of four wins this season. Performance Auto Sport is now a certified RTR installer because of their in-depth experience and expertise. They have announced that a very impressive street/track Mustang RTR Spec 2 package will be completed soon and customers will be able to install it on all models of the new 2013 Ford Mustang. "Vaughn Gittin Jr. has his finger on the pulse of the Mustang community and his passion is infectious," says Mark LaMaskin, owner of Performance Auto Sport. "RTR knows what the enthusiast wants and gives it to them one hundred percent. The brand is always evolving and changing with the trends and needs of the Mustang enthusiast. That alone will help keep RTR relevant and successful for a long time to come." [...]

Source: topspeed