Akrapovic has recently played with the Mercedes-Benz SLS AMG, fitting the German supercar with its Evolution Titanium exhaust system. Of course, we have to start with the new sound... let's put it this way: you can listen to the clip on repeat for one or two hours and still not get bored.

Getting to more serious things, we have to tell you that the Evolution system uses link pipes, resonators and a rear muffler. It also comes with tailpipes that can be made of titanium, like the rest of the c... [...]
