

Range Rover Evoque by Loder1899: The Horror!

30/03/2012 14:49 by admin

It took them a while, but somebody in the tuning industry has finally managed to ruin the Range Rover Evoque. We're talking about the Horus edition built by German tuning firm Loder1899, and named after an Egyptian god. Horus? More like horror!

The car is a strange mix of sporty wheelarches that look like they came of an old Celica, huge wheels that are... an acquired taste and a color mix that tries to emulate luxury but can't.

The body kit adds new bumper apron, widebody wheelarches, a roo... [...]

ource: autoevolution