

Project Kahn Unveils Sultry Red Ranger

06/04/2012 01:50 by admin

Red isn't a color you often see on large premium SUVs like the Range Rover, but if properly done, it actually doesn't look half bad. Naturally, as with most other colors, it all depends on the shade of red, which can make or break a vehicle's looks. The deep red used on Project Kahn's tune, hits the spot in our opinion and creates a nice contrast with the black accents such as the carbon fiber front grille, side air vents, front and rear bumper trims and the quad exhaust tailpipes.[...]

Source: Carscoop