

SpeedART SP91-R Based on 2012 Porsche 911

06/04/2012 20:58 by admin

Back in January, German tuning company Speedart previewed a modification package for the new 991 generation of the 911 and now they're back with more images and details.

The rear-engined coupe was gifted with an aerodynamic package consisting of add-on elements for the front and rear aprons, side skirts, as well as a rear wing. Climbing aboard, we find an alacantra and leather finish that uses black and green to create a strong image.

The vehicle rides on 21-inch forged alloy wheels and co... [...]

Source: autoevolution