The 2013 Mustang has recently received a full-range treatment from Roush, with customers being able to choose between three levels of customisation. Stage 1 brings an aerodynamic package that includes a new grille, a front splitter, an air scoop, side skirts, a rear diffuser, as well as a rear spoiler.

Those who opt for Stage 2 will receive a new suspension that uses a beefier front stabilizer bar, twin-tube shocks and revised springs, as well as a set of 18-inch aluminum wheels that use Coo... [...]
