Everytime a tuner releases a modification package for the new BMW F10, we are more then excited and this is exactly the feeling we're having while writing this piece of news. The uber-saloon received a complex modification package from Manhart Racing, with the aftermarket developer presenting what it considers an entry-level list of mods of the vehicle. The 4.4-liter twin-turbo V8 powerplant has been boosted to 633 hp and 780 Nm... [...]
