

Brabus 2012 Mercedes SL: First Details [Photo Gallery]

17/04/2012 23:12 by admin

The Mercedes-obsessed tuning specialists over at Brabus have gotten their hands on a 2012 SL and have started working on the roadster. For now, the aftermarket developer has only fitted the car with a new set of rims and a few badges, but much more is about to come. The R231 SL will be gifted with a lowering suspension that will enhance both the car's handling and its looks, more wheel options, as well as a bold exterior package... [...]

Source: autoevolution