HRE Wheels has recently given the world a new model of rims, the P47SC and has decided to use a pretty special display for its latest development. We are referring to a Ferrari 458 Italia, which has been fitted with the aforementioned rims. The new wheels were included in the the P40SC Conical Series and they offer the strongest P40 design that the company has released so far offering a high strength-to-weight ratio and being built from a...
