

Chevrolet Camaro ZL1 by Lingenfelter goes up to more than 200 mph

04/05/2012 03:51 by admin

A standard Chevrolet Camaro ZL1 can hit a top speed of "only" 184 mph. But the package recently announced by Lingenfelter has managed the impossible: at a recent test drive at the Continental Tire's Proving Grounds in Uvalde, Texas on April 30th their car hit a top speed of 202.67 mph. The 200-plus-mph number didn't come easy, making three prior passes at 199.8 and 199.9 mph. The car establishing this impressive result has been equipped with a GT9 camshaft, CNC ported cylinder heads, an increased supercharger speeds, custom air intake with LPE's race mesh filter, Continental ExtremeContact(tm) DW tires and production ZL1 wheels. But the most impressive thing is the car's output: an impressive 720 HP and 650 lbs. ft. of torque at the rear wheels![...]

Source: topspeed