We all know that the Nissan GT-R is a special car, from the concept which stands behind it, to the way in which it's built and the way it drives. As always, though, there's room for improvement, and the GT-R shown here is just breathtaking, and the first thing you notice is the Verde Ithaca paintjob which coats the body and calipers. The car features a custom widebody kit and has been given a wide set of black HRE whee... [...]
