

Nissan Expanding Nismo Range with RS Packs

16/05/2012 13:10 by admin

The automotive producers are looking to integrate a part of the tuning business into their own operations in their hunt for financial resources and the latest company to make a step down this road is Nissan, which wants to expand its Nismo range. The company currently offers suspension upgrades and a small power boost for the 370Z through its Nismo program, but in the future it wants to give us a Nismo RS range with beefier engine upgrade... [...]

Source: autoevolution