The current Aston Martin DBS is a dying breed, and so it deserves something extra-special done to it in order to enhance its looks more. Thus, Anderson Germany has come up with a special tuned project named Casino Royale after the famous James Bond movie with the same title. Getting straight to the point, the car boasts an increased power output from about 520 hp to 572 hp. The 6.0-liter V12 makes this impressive output using a new exhau... [...]
