

GSC Makes the Mercedes-Benz G-Class Look Fast with GoldStorm Package

23/05/2012 21:54 by admin

So what if the G-Wagen was initially developed as a military vehicle before Mercedes-Benz began offering it as a rough n' tough civilian model back in 1979; tuners continue to see a street racing potential in the G-Class, despite the fact that everything about this model screams "4x4 off-roader". Then again, Mercedes itself has gone down this path with its insane and utterly pointless AMG variants spearheaded by the new G65 AMG, which sports a 603bhp 6.0-liter bi-turbocharged V12.[...]

Source: Carscoop