

South Side Performance takes the Nissan GT-R to another level

18/01/2009 22:53 by admin

After extensive research and development South Side Performance has found a turbo combination that results in a generation of 820 hp for Nissan's most current supercar. These turbochargers are extremely high performance capable allowing GT-R owners to run more power on lower boost.

Source: 4wheelsnews.com