

DMC Fakhuna is No Joke, it's a Tuning Program for the Aston Martin DBS

09/06/2012 20:32 by admin

German tuners don't seem to be having a lot of luck when it comes to naming their projects - at least some of them. We all remember the AVUS "White Power" Audi RS6 and how that story turned out infuriating a great number of readers. Even though we doubt that anyone will be offended by this latest creation from German luxury tuning firm DMC, calling a car "Fakhuna" seems a like a poor naming choice to say the least? [...]

Source: Carscoop