

CDC Performance Redoes the Maserati Quattroporte from Top to Bottom

11/06/2012 17:21 by admin

CDC Performance Redoes the Maserati Quattroporte from Top to BottomThe German tuners at CDC International have launched a new sub brand called CDC Performance, the first product of which is based on the Maserati Quattroporte with a comprehensive styling and performance package. Even though CDC Performance makes no mention of it in its press release, as pointed out by the team over at GT Spirit, the exterior body kit is likely sourced from Japanese tuning firm Wald International (see photos below).[...]

Source: Carscoop