Cervinis Stalker has been offering tuning upgrades for the Ford Mustang since 1993, but their latest package focuses on the 2010 -2012 models. This package doesn't offer any type of engine modification because the tuner's main concern was the exterior of the American muscle car. The exterior package offered for this Mustang makes the car even more muscular than in standard form. The kit includes a new hood, a new front bumper, new upper & lower billet grilles, new side skirts, and new window scoops. Adding to the anticipated look is a new rear bumper, trunk filler, and rear wing, while the front bumper gets optional openings including LED marker lights in Divider & Open versions. The final element is a new set of wheels painted in Matte black Aluminum.[...]
