Studie, a Japan based tuner, started their initial tuning process for the BMW 1-Series M Coupe last year with a set of KW Club Sport suspension shocks and some beautiful black BBS light alloy wheels. But tot complete the precess they have the 1M project car a bit more character. You see, the ideal track car from BMW is the 4.4-liter V8-powered M3 GTS, of which the Bavarians only ever built 150. Now though, Studie wants to view the 1M as a... [...]
