

Lazzarini Design Looking for Someone to Invest $550,000 to Build a Ferrari-Powered Fiat 550 Italia

25/06/2012 10:53 by admin

Apparently, Nissan's much-hyped decision to create the ultimate small crossover by blending the body of the Juke with the mechanical hardware of the GT-R has found an imitator of sorts in the guise of Lazzarini Design Studio. The unknown Italian company would like to find an investor and car enthusiast willing to spend around $550,000 (~?440,000) to fund the development of a unique Fiat 500, one that is powered by the?Ferrari 458 Italia's running gear.[...]

Source: Carscoop