

Fiat 550 Italia by Lazzarini Design

26/06/2012 18:11 by admin

We are pretty open in letting you know that we have had it about up to here with the ?new? 500 models that Fiat continuously releases. So oftentimes when we see a new 500 model we just continue on without stopping. They are typically unexciting and only add a slight difference from the original 500. It?s like getting rainbow sprinkles on strawberry ice cream instead of red sprinkles; they are the same sugary flavor, just a different color. Well, when we came across the latest rendition of the 500, which is actually a custom build by Lazzarini Design, it was more like they dipped the ice cream in chocolate ? you know, the cool stuff that hardens on the ice cream ? added peanuts, then strapped a big nasty V-8 engine to the ice cream cone![...]

Source: topspeed