

Range Rover Evoque Red Carbon by Re-Styling

28/06/2012 17:59 by admin

The Range Rover Evoque has probably won Land Rover more first orders and awards than any other car that the Brits have ever built. And because none of them were for how discrete the crossover is, no tuner will ever shy away from doing something insane. Enter the Russian at Re-Styling, who decided that what a black four-door example needed was a wrap in a material that looks like red carbon fiber. Now the Evoque has a abrasive look and a s... [...]

Source: autoevolution