The Nissan GT-R is one of those cars that comes with a design which doesn't need any modifications to stand out, even when Godzilla is parked in a sea of supercars. However, many users want to make the car their own, so they gift it with a set of custom wheels. We're here now to bring you a new example of this, with the GT-R in the adjacent images wearing a set of COR Wheels. To be more speci... [...]
