B&B, the German tuner specialized in, what else than German cars, released today its latest tuning kit for the Audi A4. With the help of a new turbocharger, the tuner offers three performance levels for the stylish compact car: first level named comfort, offers 40 hp (280 hp in total) for the 3.0-liter TDI engine and 585 Nm of torque; the first sport level upgrades the vehicle to 300 hp and 600 Nm of torque while the second level upgrades the 3.0-liter TDI engine to an impressive 325 hp and 640 Nm of torque. The modifications are available from 1198 euros.

For the vehicle fitted with the 2.0-liter diesel engine capable to deliver 170 hp, two performance levels are available: the first stage upgrades it to 200 hp and 400 Nm of torque while the second one offers 20 hp extra and 420 Nm of torque. The prices for these performance levels starts at 998 euros. The tuning company offers also some optical tuning such as 20 inch wheels priced at 3998 euros, a new suspension system which lowers the car with 40 millimeters (1198 euros), but also an aerodynamic package priced at 1898 euros with an optional "RS-Style" muffler.
