

Tuning Directory

<https://www.tuning-links.com>

27/02/2009 14:27 by admin

Looks like Gemballa are not quite finished with the Carrera GT yet. They've updated there website today to give us a glympse of the Gemballa Mirage GT 'Carbon Edition'. There's very few details however apart from the fact that it has 670bhp and that it will do 335 km/h (208mph)

It's claimed that it will also do 0-100 km/h (62mph) in 3.7 seconds (Stock 3.9) 0-200 km/h (124mph) in 9.7 seconds (Stock 9.9). We suspect that this Mirage will be lighter than the other through the use of Carbon Fibre and Ceramic Brakes. I suppose we'll have to wait until they provide us with more information but from what we see at the moment it looks very promising!

Source: gtspirit.com