We don't know if you've noticed this, but Japan has lost a supercar, the LFA. Sure, it had the engine in the front and cost a small fortune, but it was special. In its place, we were given a new type of vehicle, extremely stylish but not technologically advanced. Despite harsh criticism every time a new car is launched, Lexus is now the company to beat in the American luxury market. Not surprisingly, the RC F (or RCF, as everybo... [...]
