

Porsche Cayenne Diesel by TechArt

02/03/2009 23:06 by admin

For some reason, Porsche tuner TechArt has decided to release an exclusive aerokit for the recently introduced Cayenne Diesel that's powered by an Audi-derived, 240-horsepower 3.0-liter V6 TDI. Though less extreme than the firm's other tuning packages, the accessorized Cayenne Diesel definitely stands out. TechArt's aero kit includes a front spoiler with additional lights, side skirts, roof spoiler, a rear apron with an integrated diffuser and headlight / tail light trims. All components are made from high quality polyurethane RIM.

The package is complemented by a set of 21-inch alloy wheels shod in 295/35 Continental tires, but buyers can also opt for 22-inch alloys. If your pocket can handle it, TechArt also offers a variety of upgrades for the interior including a new steering wheel, alloy pedals and a full leather treatment.

Source: carscoop.blogspot.com