

Mercedes-Benz CL500 by Wheelsandmore

06/04/2009 09:40 by admin

Wheelsandmore from Germany shows once more that they are playing in the big league with their latest spectacular car C45L.

The serial power from this Mercedes cl500 is for the most sportive drivers much to less. So wheelsandmore decided to create a tuning pack for this sportscoupe. Within a v-max abilitation they tuned the performance up to 450 hp at 575lb-ft. A special exhaust system with 100cells sport catalysts, 4in1 manifold and a valve controlled rear silencer with serial end tips combined with an ECU update is responsible for this incremental power.

With their LowMaXX electronic lowering module the look of the car and the suspension setup is getting as sporty as the power upgrade.

Finishing the project they took their well known wheel design TS-1 Ultralight Forged in special sizes 9,5 + 10,5x21 with tires 255/30/21 and 285/30/21 Dunlop Sportmaxx. All Wheelsandmore-rims are coming with stainless steel outer rims, high gloss consolidated centers and are customized as the client likes.

-

-