Swiss based tuners from Mansory revealed their tuning program for the mighty Range Rover Sport. It includes modifications both for the exterior and interior and and performance upgrades.

The exterior is that really grabs the eye. It is impossible to miss that car on the road or in the parking area. The wide body add 60 mm in width to the front axle and 80 mm to the rear one. It also includes a carbon fiber diffuser integrated in the rear apron, a carbon fiber roof spoiler, a new front spoiler with integrated LEDs, and a new bonnet with a carbon power dome and new fenders, front and rear. The Mansory Range Rover Sport sits on 23 inch light alloys that comes with 315/25 R23 tires.

Thanks to the new air suspension module the car is 30 millimetres lower. Inside, there's a new sports steering wheel and aluminium pedals. Almost all interior cladding components are covered in cream and brown leather and can be combined with stylish wood or carbon inserts, as required. There's also embroidered MANSORY Switzerland logos on the seats and foot mats.

The Mansory Range Rover Sport also received small power bump as well. Thanks to the exhaust systems, sports air filters and optimised ECU, the tuner managed to extract another 30 hp from the stock engine.
